Craig Reed's Two Day 104 Mile Run Raises Awareness and Funds for At Risk Children in Vietnam

We write to share a remarkable story about our client, Craig Reed, who works for All States Materials Group. Craig, 48, began running three years ago. He is also a dedicated volunteer and supports a charity named Orphan Voice, a U.S. based charity that works on orphan relief in Vietnam.

Orphan Voice is a faith-based, orphan relief agency that provides for the needs of orphans, children living in state institutions, special needs children, deaf children, children and youth at risk for sex/labor trafficking and families at risk for placing their child in an orphanage.

On August 26, Craig embarks on a two day, 104 mile run across Vietnam to raise money and awareness for Orphan Voice. Craig's run is remarkable on its own, but even more so given the extreme weather that he will endure. Craig's goal is to raise $50,000.

We thought this event worthy of bringing to your attention. If you are so inclined, then we hope that you will join us in supporting it. There is both a fundraising site, www.razoo.com/story/enduring-voices-1, and a Facebook page, www.facebook.com/promiserun, with more information. We wish Craig well on his two day run in Vietnam and look forward to following, online, Craig's journey.
